This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

We desire in presenting this, the second biennial report, to return our sincere thanks to His Excellency, Governor J. C. W. Beckham and to Hon. Hubert Vreeland, Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, for their assistance and kind consideration given us and for their manifest interest in all matters concerning labor and the laboring classes.

We desire to express our thanks to proprietors and foremen of the manufacturing and industrial establishments who have so ably assisted us in the performance of our duties, their promptness in reporting to this department the facts herein presented, and their obeying, scarcely without an exception, the letter and spirit of the laws under which we work.

To the labor organizations, civic leagues, the humane, the charitable institutions, the clergy and the thousands of good Christian men and women who have so ably assisted us in the work, we take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

THOS. J. SCALLY,
State Labor Inspector.

WM. YOUNG
Ass't. State Labor Inspector.

SPECIAL ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

I believe that I would be neglectful of my duties and unmindful of that which all men owe to those who deserve praise where praise is due, did I not in this report state that the work of this department and its efficiency is due to a great extent to the unfailing and earnest devotion of the Assistant Labor Inspector, William Young, to the duties devolving on him. As he had served under the former Inspector, his experience and willingness to assist me has been of untold benefit.

THOS. J. SCALLY,
State Labor Inspector.

INTRODUCTORY.

Appreciating the fact that this Commonwealth is fast developing its great resources of mineral and other wealth, its brains and its muscles, and is fast taking first rank as a manufacturing State, the Legislature, in its wisdom, in the session of 1902, passed a law (chap. 24, Acts of 1902) providing for the appointment of a State Labor Inspector and an Assistant State Labor Inspector, same to be under the direction of and appointed by the Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics (approved by the Governor). The duties as prescribed in said act are to visit and inspect all manufacturing establishments and other industries, to gather and collect statistics concerning labor, wherever or by whom employed, also to investigate and report any violation or infraction of the laws governing the employment of women and children, to recommend safeguards, and sanitary conditions for the protection of life, limb and health.

In the last two years we, the appointees to the positions of State Labor Inspector and Assistant State Labor Inspector, have endeavored to use due diligence in the performance of our duties, and take pleasure in submitting this report to those whose servants we are (the whole people of the Commonwealth).

We fully appreciate the hearty cooperation we have received from both employer and employe, with scarcely an exception, in the carrying out of the duties of our offices and the enforcement of the law.

The State has been divided during the past term as follows: The territory of the Labor Inspector embraces Louisville and all cities and towns lying west and known in the report as the First District, the Assistant Labor Inspector having charge of all cities and towns east of Louisville, known as the Second District.

The collecting of statistics is, of course, never entirely complete, but we believe that we have practically covered the ground in this report, and the letters which are contained herein, giving the opinions of those most interested in the law and the questions involved in our department, show that the public has faith in this department and is in favor of the enactment of some changes which will make it possible to carry out the spirit of the law.

New industries are fast coming to Kentucky, capital from the North is developing our natural resources, and the protection of the coming generation demands more practical and far-reaching child labor and compulsory school laws.

REPORT.

The year 1905 closed with the great Commonwealth of Kentucky in the most prosperous condition, commercially and industrially, it has known in its history.

Through the wise administration of Governor Beckham, the State stands practically alone in the Union with no State debt, with industrial peace, with employer and employe working together hand in hand to develop its great resources and to assist each other in making this great State commercially what it is intellectually, the greatest State under the banner of the stars and stripes.

In this, the second biennial report of your Labor Inspector and Assistant Labor Inspector, we have endeavored to impress upon the Legislature, the State, county and municipal officers, as well as all the citizens of this grand Commonwealth, the necessity of encouraging the development of the State, but in a manner to take care of our future generations so that we will not make the mistakes of other States in the South, who have become, through commercial enthusiasm, the dumping ground for rascally employers and slave drivers, who have displaced negro labor with child labor and who have, through their greed, taken children from eight to fourteen years of age from the school house and placed them in the sweat shop and factory. The genuine Kentuckian is proud of his State, of its bright men who have passed away leaving names immortal, of its great men living to-day who are keeping up its reputation. It is the accepted principle of our State government that the need of our State is the education of our children so that they can keep up the good name she now bears.

We are pleased to be able to state that our merchants report a large and increasing trade, on a sound financial basis; that the commercial and savings departments in our banks and trust companies are constantly getting larger, many banks having been formed in small towns which heretofore have been denied this necessity to business prosperity; our manufactories are working to their full capacity and in many lines day and night, skilled and common labor find active employment at remunerative wages, the demand in many parts of the State being greater than the supply.

Under the former Inspector, fifty-seven towns were inspected, while we have inspected sixty-one—Hodgensville, with three factories; Franklin, with seven; Butler, with three; Eminence, with four. We have inspected one thousand and ninety-five factories against eight hundred and sixty-nine inspected by the former Inspectors. We find ten thousand one hundred and thirty-eight women employed against eight thousand four hundred and ninety-one; three thousand, two hundred and fifty-five boys employed against three thousand one hundred and sixty-six; two thousand one hundred and five girls against two thousand and fifty-two.

We classify all as children (boys and girls) under the age of eighteen, while the former Inspector drew the line at sixteen.

That there are less children employed is from the fact of the strict enforcement of the child-labor law, which has out a corresponding number of men and women at work. Our investigations, however, would show that much of the woman labor was substituted for the child labor depletion, including foremen and foreladies. We find all kinds of labor employed in factories, fifty-six thousand and fifty-one as against forty-six thousand six hundred and twenty-three two years ago; we find two hundred and forty-five factories requiring night work as against two hundred and nineteen two years ago; we find five hundred and thirteen females under the age of eighteen working in factories at night. We have had to remove only one hundred and seventy-six children under the age of fourteen as against eight hundred and seven removed under the former Inspector. We have only found one hundred and thirty children under fourteen years with judges' permits as against six hundred and eighty-four. We have only doubted and required sworn statements from one hundred and ninety-three children as against nine hundred and thirty, showing that the law is having its effect, that the good work under the former Inspector has borne good fruit and that the law has in the main been observed by the employer. We have found one hundred and forty-five illiterate children as against six hundred and eighty-six by the former Inspector, thus showing that the law and this department has sent five hundred and forty-one children to school where they have an opportunity to gain an education and become a credit to themselves and to the State. We found two hundred and seventy-five boys and four hundred and twenty-eight girls under sixteen years of age operating dangerous machinery as against five hundred and fifty-two boys and seven hundred and twenty girls found by the former Inspector. We have had fire escapes placed on one hundred and forty buildings, thirty-three hand rails for stairs, forty-eight elevator protections, better sanitary conditions in twenty factories, ventilation in forty-six, water-closets for females in twenty-four, dressing rooms in eight. We have ordered set-screws covered in twenty-three factories, belting on machinery guarded in sixty and drive wheels on engines guarded in five.

Although there are one hundred and twenty strictly union factories as against one hundred and two two years ago, there have only been fifteen strikes as against twenty-six two years ago, and eight of the fifteen strikes were in non-union factories. Coal, lead, zinc and other mining industries have been developed in the past two years, while we are becoming one of the leading States in the Union in the oil industry, and we believe an effort should be made by the incoming Legislature to thoroughly investigate these industries.

TO THE LEGISLATURE.

To the incoming Legislature we wish to say there can be no more important subject of legislation than that dealing with child labor. Upon however widely separated bases may rest our personal conceptions of the relations of the State and males of the age of majority—anywhere from the extreme individualism of the anarchist to the extreme submergence of the individual of the Socialist—upon the question of the relation of the State to the child, there is a common ground, the universal belief in America at least, that it is not only the right of the State, but its duty, to protect the coming generation. A multitude of laws, many crude and more of them bunglesome, attest the widespread acceptance of this doctrine and the attempt of legislative bodies to meet and comply with it. There should be no question that any child under fourteen should work in a factory or mine and that no child should work at sixteen who has not a common school education.

The natural instincts demand that the child shall be placed above ourselves. If benefits are to come through improved conditions, the right-minded man must put his selfishness aside and insist that they be given to those for whose being he is responsible and to those to whom he himself must look in the years to come, when age and infirmity have disabled or incapacitated him.

We, therefore, most respectfully ask each member to carefully read and review this report that such laws shall be passed as to make this department more effective and useful.

CHILD LABOR.

We do not believe that any act ever passed by the Legislature of the State of Kentucky has done more for its citizens and for our future generations than the present child labor law. For years previous to the passage of the present law, the labor unions had felt the need of an adequate child labor law. Many judges are to-day unthoughtedly or carelessly granting permits for children under fourteen years of age to work. We feel this is false charity.

Horrible accounts come from Dallas, Texas, of mills where the superintendents boast their humanity because they do not take children "before they can walk!" Such reports must be spurs to our endeavors, and our determination to make this movement one great campaign in which all who love their fellowmen may unite without any other Shibboleth.

In some things the workers of America must wait for understanding and appreciation from their fellow citizens; in this they have only to put out their hands and they will find them grasped by thousands with whom they have not hitherto known the joy of fellowship.

The love and pity for the child, the far-seeing recognition of its value to society, is the touch of nature which makes the whole world kin and is going to win this battle for its protection years before any partisan methods could do it. It is the modern expression of the Christian spirit in which all, rich and poor, young and old, unite in honoring a child and spreading His kingdom of peace and good will.

There have been dismissed on our orders nine hundred and eighty-three children under the age of fourteen years since this law has been in force. Right minded people of all classes recognize the justice and humanity of the law and, with very few exceptions, the employer has obeyed it willingly and to the letter.

Humanity, charity, education, civilization demands that the system of making little children industrial slaves be abolished. Greedy brutes, whether capitalists or parents, should be compelled to respect the rights of little ones to develop, at least until the age of sixteen, their health and character. It is a reform that can with inestimable value to a nation be prosecuted by a nation.

Child workers if allowed to continue, will add to and perpetuate hospitals, prisons and charitable institutions, made necessary mainly because of the inhuman practice of allowing physically and mentally undeveloped children to work. Questions of race suicide and other questions of vital importance to civilization will never be solved while child workers remain a part of our industrial system.

The excuses, apologies, reasons offered in an attempted justification of the employment of little children in life-sapping tasks are spurious, every one of them. Child laborers make not one of our industries successful, and if child labor makes an enterprise carried on by an individual or a number of individuals successful and dependent solely for success upon child labor, that enterprise should be abolished rather than that child labor should be perpetuated. We have but comparatively few cases where absolute necessity compels little children to daily toil for their sustenance. In the vast majority of cases their dependence upon the will of others and their helplessness in their own interests makes them victims of greed, but wherever the system is allowed to flourish, the cases born of absolute necessity will increase.

Child labor is not only a trades union issue, but a social, educational, religious and a nation's issue. Child labor is a plague to the civilized progress of any nation.

It is a nation's duty and should be its purpose to abolish child labor, irrespective of specious proofs or arguments designed to show the necessity of child labor to growing industries or established industries in certain localities. Dissembling philanthropy, the selfish pleas of imbruted capitalists and parents and the industrial ambitions of communities do not lessen the crime of child labor and should not be accepted.

Much of the objection to child labor legislation mistakes option for compulsion. In contending for the permission of child labor as a frequent necessity to the maintenance of the family, the essential fact is lost sight of that without such permission the natural bread-winner would be better able to supply the needs of his dependents.

To the employer accrues the only real option in the matter; the permission to employ child labor is taken advantage of to the exclusion, as far as possible, of the adult.

The child labor system is decidedly an unnatural one, distinguished only in this respect from the system of child exposure by the difference in motive—a difference somewhat in favor of the latter.

But it is logical that, given the right by law to employ children, the employer who is concerned solely in making profits should indulge in that right. Further, it is inevitable that, competition in the cheapening of labor thus established, all employers must come down to the "irreducible minimum" of labor cost.

Thus we find that in the nature of competition, not in the nature of man, lies the explanation of the child labor system. In itself competition may or may not be a good thing, may or may not be a law of our social being; but society recognizes in almost every activity, social and industrial, a point at which the right of "every man for himself" ends and the duty of all men for society begins.

In the matter of reducing the cost of labor, the line between business rights and human rights should be drawn against the employment of children under a certain age. In order that, in drawing this line, we shall have intact whatever there may be of sanctity in the "law of competition," we should, as indeed we do, insist that child-labor laws shall apply to all classes of industry.

The opponents of child-labor legislation contend that such laws can not be made general in their operation; that to deny to certain industries the right to employ young children is impracticable. In this view, not the necessity of the family, but the existence of the industry is made the basis of argument.

To meet this assumed difficulty legislatures frequently warp the bills in the middle so that they do not fit at the ends.

It ought to be recognized that the evil of child labor does not lie in the difference between this and that class of employment, but in the difference between work and play, between the occupation, that is in the nature of a task and that which is performed in the freedom from direction, restraint, or compulsion, which is the essence of creative pursuit.

Child labor has become a general evil which endangers the future of society. It has gone beyond the possibility of effective treatment upon any conception short of the public welfare. The charge of indifference to individual misfortune or necessity will not lie against the advocates of prohibition, because they do not permit their sympathy for such cases to blind them to a general condition, in which the sole issue lies between the natural order of things in family life, on one hand, and a sordid and unconscionable striving for "cheap labor" on the other hand.

The man who sets up the widow and orphan as the standard of measurement in the case, merely demonstrates his inability to distinguish between the duty of society to help the helpless and its duty to defend itself.

Many a man goes down to defeat in the fierce struggle for existence owing to the fact that he was denied the chance to obtain a needed common school education and can say: "My strength of manhood was sacrificed in the child-labor employing trust and sweat shops."

And society looks on with indifference. All children are entitled by the highest laws of nature to a chance to develop along natural lines into robust manhood. This can not be done in a sweat shop.

All children should be compelled to attend school until they are at least sixteen years old. All States should adopt laws prohibiting the employment of children in any capacity before they are sixteen years old. Any State which neglects to do this is blindly and criminally a party to this awful system which allows child murder through excessive employment.

Adequate factory laws looking to the protection of children will do more to make America great than any other measure that has ever been put forth. The greatest public crime of the twentieth century is the employment of innocent children in soul and body-destroying occupations.

Reliable statistics show that the jails, prisons, asylums and reformatory institutions are filled by undersized people, and those competent to judge say the chief cause is "child labor."

Some people say: "I worked when very young and am well and hearty to-day." True, but in nearly all such cases they worked out of doors and not in the ill-smelling, crowded, machine-rattling modern factory. For the sake of coming generations and the perpetuity of our free institutions, there should be no such words in our vocabulary as "child labor."

We have done all in our power to give the children of our State an education and take them from the sweat shop and factory, and we now ask the Legislature to so amend the law that no child under the age of fourteen years can work in any factory in the State, giving no one the right to exercise his pleasure in the matter of permitting it.

It has been so generally accepted that the iniquities of child labor had been so widely done away with in this country by legislation that the statements of Owen R. Lovejoy, assistant secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, at the annual conference of the International Association of Factory

Inspectors, comes as a shock. He set forth the astonishing claim that, despite the efforts to reduce the army of working children in America, during the period from 1880 to 1900, while the population of the country increased only 50 per cent., the number of boys from ten to fifteen years of age engaged in mechanical and manufacturing pursuits increased 100 per cent., while the number of girls between the same ages and in the same class of industries increased 150 per cent.

Mr. Lovejoy cited in support of his statements that, although Pennsylvania has a law forbidding the employment of children under fourteen years on coal breakers, yet in May of the present year an investigation by the National Child Labor Committee showed that in one small borough of 7,000 population, among the boys working in the breakers, thirty-five were nine years old, forty were ten, forty-five were eleven and forty-five were twelve—over one hundred and fifty boys working illegally in the single borough.

The protection of the children from labor at an immature age is a universally accepted principle, for as Secretary Lovejoy puts it:

"When industry lays its hands upon childhood and makes conscripts of the defenseless, then industry strikes at the life of the State, for the State is a vital organism; not a crystal. The economic theories of the manufacturer, if applied in the industries under his control, become directly the affair of society, and here lies the justification of legislation governing employment."

If the statements made at Detroit are true, and their authority is most creditable, we have been too complacent in believing that the work was done when we legislated against child labor.

FEMALE LABOR.

Our report shows in the State ten thousand one hundred and thirty-eight women employed at an average wage of 87½ cents per day, while the average wages of men are $1.63½ per day, showing that women work for 76½ cents per day, on the average, lower than men. (In organized trades women are receiving nearer the wages paid men). This in itself accounts for the increased employment of women.

One of the principal reasons why women work cheaper than men is that it is hard for them to realize that they are a part of the great industrial army and that they must assist themselves to obtain better conditions and wages. Women, as a class, look upon their employment as only temporary; they expect and look forward to marriage, when they will escape from the shops, and what becomes of the working girl as a class they care not.

It is almost an impossibility to induce a working girl to inform any one how much she earns, how many hours she works, or what are the sanitary conditions of the shop, or whether their rules are just or unjust. If they work hard and get little for it, they consider it nobody's business; they prefer to bear their privations alone and allow others to think that they are comfortably situated. Aside from the general deplorable conditions of labor, which allows women to work at starvation wages, we find that employers are neglectful of the health of the females employed by them; girls are required to work standing for from ten to twelve hours daily, when the work could be done faster and easier if stools were furnished so that they could sit.

The practice of working for less wages than men is the result of both willingness and necessity, and places in the hands of the employer the opportunity to lessen wages, which he takes advantage of by employing women as far as practicable and reducing the wages of men.

In every instance this would be the result accompanying the entrance of women into occupations performed by men if there was no organized influence or forces powerful enough to offer successful resistance.

In addition, the surplus of help is augmented, which is a constant wage menace.

The question of whether the industrial field is woman's proper sphere has but little importance, in view of the fact that it is her forced sphere, and although she does not consider her occupation or industrial success the object of her life, the better industrial conditions are made the nearer she approaches to the fruition of her hopes to live in the full stature of womanhood.

Her aesthetic nature and purer environment naturally craves the higher development and should, it would seem, influence her to improve, as far as possible, her industrial life. Undoubtedly there are combined influences which, because of her nature, cause many of our women workers to shirk from engaging in the organized struggle for economic rights, yet the causes which divert her from what we are pleased to feel is her proper sphere and made her an industrial unit in our great commercial system are daily impressing her against those industrial influences constantly tending to blunt her finer nature.

The average annual earnings of women in the United States in trade, personal and industrial occupations are $295; their average annual expenses for maintenance are $286, leaving an average annual saving of nine dollars. Surely a munificent sum for an age of professed Christianity and boasted civilization.

Many reasons are advanced for the employment of women, chief of which are:

First. The supply is great.

Second. They are better adapted for some kinds of work.

Third. They are more reliable.

Fourth. They are more easily controlled.

Fifth. They seldom strike.

Sixth. They are satisfied with a subdivision of work.

Seventh. Their desire to advance into other branches to learn more of the business is not apparent.

All of these specious excuses, when reduced to a closer analysis, means that their native ability, their generosity, their confiding good nature, their docility and obedience are imposed upon to the point of degradation. The fruit of their labor is the property of others. They are still economically dependent. To make it plain, they are systematically robbed.

We believe, therefore, that it is the duty of the State to throw such safeguards around our women workers as to prevent their being made slaves and to sustain and protect their womanhood.

ILLITERATE CHILDREN.

Through the efforts and recommendations of this department, the labor organizations, especially the trades and labor assemblies of Kenton and Campbell counties, and the Civic League, a truant officer bill was passed by the last Legislature and, while this bill is not up to the standard (see copy of bill and comments on page 21), a great work has been done. Where truant officers have been appointed, the school attendance has been increased from 10 to 15 per cent., while our report shows that there were only one hundred and forty-five illiterate children found in factories as against six hundred and eighty-six two years ago.

It should, therefore, be the instructions of the State Superintendent of Schools to all boards of education that the truant officers be appointed (as only in a few cases has any notice been taken of the law), and we request that they (the truant officers) be requested and required to report to and cooperate with this department that we may work in harmony and not to cross purposes.

TRUANT LAW.

AN ACT to secure school attendance of children between the ages of seven and fourteen.

§ 1. That every parent, guardian or other person in any city of the first, second, third or fourth class, within this Commonwealth, having the control of any child or children between the ages of seven and fourteen years, shall be required to send such child or children, annually, to some public or private school for children for the full term of such school, and that if the attendance be upon a private school, it shall be one full term of which not less than five months: Provided, however, that this act shall not apply in any case where the child is physically or mentally unfit to attend school, or has already acquired the common school branches required by law; such acquisition to be attested and certified in the same manner and at the same time as in the case of county graduates of the common school.

§ 2. In the first week in July each year, the Board of Education in each city of the first, second, third and fourth classes, shall appoint one person for each three thousand pupils, or fraction thereof, to serve as truant officer, whose term of office shall be for one year from date of appointment, and whose authority shall be limited to the city where the appointment is made; such person so appointed shall be of strict moral character, and with ability to read and write. Truant officers shall be paid from the school tax levy of such city at the rate of not less than $1.00 nor more than $2.50 for each school day.

§ 3. Truant officers shall examine into any case of truancy within the city and shall warn the parent, guardian or others in charge of the child of the final consequences of truancy if persisted in. When any child between the age of seven and fourteen years is not attending school without lawful excuse and in violation of the provision of this act, the proper truant officer shall notify the parent, guardian or other person in charge, of the fact, and require such person to cause the child to attend some recognized school within five days from the date of the notice, and it shall be the duty of such person so to cause its attendance at some recognized school. Upon failure to do so, the truant officer shall make complaint before a justice of the peace of the county in which such child lives, against the parent, guardian or other person having such child in charge, and, upon conviction, the parent, guardian or other person in charge shall forfeit to the use of the school in the city in which such child resides, a sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty dollars for the first offense, nor less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for the second and every subsequent offense, and cost of suit.

§ 4. The truant officer shall keep a record of his transactions for the inspection of the school boards of such cities, and suitable blanks shall be provided for his use by the State Superintendent.

§ 5. Any person having control of a child who, with intent to evade the provisions of this act, shall make a wilfully false statement concerning the age of such child, or the time such child has attended school, shall forfeit for each offense a sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty dollars for the use of the public schools for such city.

SEPARATE CLOSETS FOR FEMALES.

While we have the right to recommend, we have no power to enforce the providing by manufacturers of separate water-closets for females, and we believe that this is one question which the incoming Legislature should take up and provide an adequate law. In fact, a law which would cover separate dressing rooms, closets, screened stairways, etc., for females should be enacted.

Through the assistance of the health officers, especially that of Dr. Wilson, of Covington, we have had separate closets provided where otherwise the manufacturers would have refused to comply with our recommendations. It is strange that proprietors and managers of manufacturing establishments will, in the majority of cases, do nothing about providing girls and women with conveniences and protection to modesty due their sex, unless forced to do so by the requirement of the law.

FIRE ESCAPES.

We found one hundred and forty factories with proper fire escapes and were only required to make recommendations for same in twenty-seven factories, most manufacturers obeying the law in regard to same.

No law can, in our opinion, be too radical or too stringent with reference to the protection of human life against fire. In these days when one of the important problems of architecture is to secure the greatest amount of floor space, which can be converted to the use of storing material, or for the purpose of locating or placing machinery for manufacturing purposes, or otherwise, from every foot of ground utilized, and in order to accomplish this it becomes necessary to erect high buildings, with very few, yes, in most cases, but one stairway, the question of providing adequate and sufficient egress in case of fire or other disaster becomes a very important factor. Such laws should be enacted in all States that will compel the owners of these buildings to make ample provisions for the protection of the lives of those who are employed or who congregate in any manufacturing or mercantile building that has a height of three or more stories.

Licensed Engineers and Boiler Room Inspectors.

We have found in the performance of our duties that the great need of this State is a uniform steam engineers license and boiler room inspection; we have found boys between the ages of fourteen and sixteen firing boilers.

Men were found in many factories running engines who knew absolutely nothing of them except to throw in coal and were most of the time running saws, piling lumber or doing something else besides watching their boiler.

While all crafts operating by steam on the river, where only two or three persons' lives or safety are in danger, must have an engineer and fireman who have passed an examination (outside of Louisville and Covington, who have protected themselves by municipal legislation), there is no safeguard against incompetent men running engines and firing boilers in factories and workshops who are totally ignorant of the duties of an engineer and where hundreds of lives are in danger.

Boilers in factories should be inspected and kept in a safe condition at all times. Thirteen hundred and fifty-six boilers are in use in the factories of the State and competent men should be appointed, either directly by the State or by municipalities, to examine and grant licenses to all operating boilers. A fee should be charged for a license which would cover all expenses and the State treasury would lose nothing.

ELEVATOR PROTECTION.

It is surprising that, in spite of the many suits for damages brought against manufacturers who have neglected the safety guarding of their elevator wells, hatchways, shafts and stair railing, and in consequence thereof some employe has met with a serious accident, that many of our manufacturers still do the foolish act and neglect to place the necessary safeguards.

There should therefore, be a law which will make it a criminal offense for any one to remove a safety guard, and a law should also provide for automatic gates on all elevators.

LABOR ORGANIZATION.

As shown in previous articles, organized labor is fast becoming a power in this State and, in the main, a power for good. Strikes have been few and there seems to be in the State of Kentucky a better feeling between employer and employe than in many other States. The labor organizations do not as yet apparently appreciate what this department means to labor and have been dilatory in furnishing us information in regard to their crafts asked for. This may be accounted for by want of confidence in this department or by negligence. The inspectors appointed by Commissioner Vreeland, as well as those appointed by his predecessor, Commissioner Nall, are union men. We trust that all employers and officers of labor unions of the State will realize the good intent and assist us in the work we have to do.

COMPARISON BETWEEN ORGANIZED AND UNORGANIZED LABOR.

It has ever been a recognized and fundamental principle that the better paid the workmen of a community were the better for the merchant, manufacturer, professional man and the landlord.

If this be true, every effort should be made to increase the membership and power of the labor organizations. The averages in the State of men, both union and non-union, we found to be $1.63½ per day; while the classified table of labor unions gives the average wage to be $2.60 per day. The average dues paid by a union man into his organization is 50 cents per month, therefore, according to our investigation, the union man is receiving an increase of wages of $1.00 per day.

The unions have few strikes and, while our data was not complete on account of the negligence of labor union officials to answer our requests for information, still our tables show an average healthy increase in membership, wages and moral conditions.

STRIKES AND LABOR DIFFERENCES.

Kentucky is, as a rule, free from strikes and, as stated heretofore, the feeling between employer and employe in Kentucky is fraternal. In regard to strikes, we believe that the following remarks are worthy of consideration:

At the Pittsburg meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, Ernest F. DuBrul, who at the time of the meeting and until recently was commissioner of the National Metal Trades Association, made some remarks about strikes and their causes, which remarks are being widely quoted and in some cases in such a way as to be somewhat misleading. We have thought it advisable to reprint Mr. DuBrul's remarks complete so that those of our readers who are interested may know just what he actually said. At first the subject of insurance (of employers) against damage by strikes was being discussed and Mr. DuBrul then said: "I have given the matter of strike insurance a considerable amount of thought ever since the Louisville plan was started, and since this Waterbury plan was started. In the last four years, and particularly in the last two years, I have had considerable experience in handling strikes. There have been about sixty-five strike cases that have come under my notice in the last year, absolute strikes that I had to do with. In addition to that, there have been a great many others that I have followed very carefully, and I want to say to the gentlemen assembled here that my experience is that most of the troubles and strikes are caused by the employer, and I want you to let that sink in pretty thoroughly. I should say, as a rough estimate, that about 80 per cent of the strike troubles that have come under my notice are directly or indirectly the fault of the employers and are due to laxities or imperfections or rottenness in the management of the concern that has the strike. The other 20 per cent., in a rough classification, are what may be called epidemic strikes that almost anybody is liable to have.

"Now, you take a man who has a well-managed business, who is treating his people fairly, and who is not trying to gouge every last cent out of them in the way of wages, who not only talks about a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, but who knows what a fair day's work is—and I want to say that I have found employers who do know what it is—such a man does not have the trouble with strikes that the other man has and you can not interest him in the strike insurance proposition by the same token. If strike insurance is brought about for the purpose of supporting the sort of people that Mr. Fay speaks of, the small and weak man, I agree with him that man ought to get some kind of support; but I have also found that the small and weak man is just as liable, if not a little more liable, to have strikes.

"I will not say that all small manufacturers are small minded; in fact, I know some very large ones who are small minded. But it is a personal proposition, and I would undertake to say that if you were to put a man up against a strike insurance proposition and say, 'Here, you have got to have such and such qualifications,' just the same as the New England Mutual people say to him about fire insurance, the average man would say, just as he says to the New England Mutual Fire Insurance people, 'Why, that costs too much. I will carry the risk myself,' and you can not afford to carry the risk for him unless he is first class. That is just the idea I want the committee to think about.

"I should say that the present strike of the bakers in Boston was largely the fault of the master bakers of that city. They had an organization, but they had been apathetic; they had been indifferent. That was one of their troubles. In other instances that have come under my notice, as I said this morning, there has been a foreman who has not done right. He has ill treated his men, and so on. The employer is responsible for that foreman. I know of cases where strikes in their last analysis are demands for better management of the institution. It is a well known fact that the better managed an institution is, the less liability there is in that institution to strikes.

"I hope that the gentlemen present will take that statement in the spirit in which it was given, as a warning to them that they must educate themselves; they must educate their employes; they must educate their foremen, their superintendents and everybody else connected with the handling of labor; and, above all, they have got to educate the laboring men. If they do not, it is their own fault very largely."

AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Several States have, in the last few years, passed an eight-hour day, providing "that all work done for the State directly or indirectly shall be done under an eight-hour day." A Sunday law was introduced in the United States Congress last year, but was killed in the Committee of the Senate.

The United States Government does, however, now require that all building done for it be done under an eight-hour day, including ship building. The eight-hour work day is desirable, and we will not waste space in proving that it is; the only thing to be discussed is how the shorter work day can be successfully and most speedily introduced. We have before us the experience of the American Federation of Labor in its efforts to win the eight-hour day for one trade at a time. We know, too, that the building trades have been the most successful in this movement; that the cigar makers have enjoyed the eight-hour day for many years; that the printers are establishing a nine-hour day in book and jobbing offices, half an hour at a time; and that the granite cutters established the eight-hour day in 1900. But in no case do we recall that a shorter work day has been established as the result of a general strike. In some localities the building trades have struck for a shorter day, but the general movement has, as a rule, been the result of cooperation between the two interests directly involved—employing and employed. For that reason, and the fact that we can not safely prognosticate future trade conditions, we are not in favor of committing ourselves to arbitrary establishment of a shorter work day on a specified date.

The shorter work day has, in our opinion, never been seriously discussed by the Kentucky Legislature. There is so much involved in the movement for a shorter work day that it is well we should pause to consider all its phases before passing a definite resolution.

Are we willing to lose the one or two hours' pay, for example? In the case of piece work must a man do two hours' less work than he has been doing, or can he "let out" a little? And, finally, are we to ignore the employing interests entirely? We hope not. After very mature consideration of this question, we are of the opinion that the shorter work day can only be successfully established by the cooperation of both employing and employed interests, facilitated by conferences with such representative associations of employers and employes.

No doubt these findings will not be approved by those who favor a more summary treatment of the case, and many may think that we are altogether too solicitous about the employers' interests. We are prepared to hear that, but nevertheless stand firmly by the position that in any movement that will radically disturb existing conditions in an industry every interest must receive fair treatment, or it is doomed to ignominious failure.

LABOR INSPECTOR LAW.

AN ACT to further regulate the Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

§ 1. In the Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics there shall be appointed by the commissioner, with the approval of the Governor, a Labor Inspector and one Assistant Labor Inspector, who shall be men having practical knowledge of factories, machine or workshops, and who shall be under the supervision of the commissioner.

§ 2. It shall be the duty of the Labor Inspector to visit and inspect the various factories, machine and workshops in this State, and, under the direction of the commissioner, to report to the Commonwealth's attorney and county attorney of the county or district, where such factory, machine or workshop is located, any violation or infraction of laws enacted for the protection of women, children and other persons laboring in such places.

§ 3. It shall be the duty of every owner, manager and agent of any factory, machine or workshop where laborers are employed to admit the Labor Inspectors during reasonable hours and while the same is open, for the purpose of making an inspection of same, and any person who shall refuse to admit such Inspectors in violation of the provisions of this section shall be fined not to exceed one hundred dollars, or to be imprisoned in jail not more than six months, or both be so fined and imprisoned in the discretion of the jury.

§ 4. It shall further be the duty of the Labor Inspector to collect statistics concerning labor wherever and however employed in this State, and report the same to the commissioner at such times as he may direct. It shall be the duty of the owner, officers, manager, or agent of any factory, machine or workshop where laborers are employed, to furnish upon demand of the Labor Inspectors statistical information concerning the number and sex of laborers employed, the compensation of each, the amount and kind of labor performed by such laborers, and such other reasonable information as may be required by the commissioner: Provided, That no person shall be required to furnish the Labor Inspectors information concerning the private conduct or condition of his affairs, or the affairs of the firm or concern he represents, touching matters not contemplated in the provisions of this act: And provided further, That no Labor Inspector, for the purpose of gathering statistics, shall interfere or detain from work any laborer while on duty during working hours.

§ 5. The commissioner shall make a separate report biennially to the Legislature on or before the second Monday in January, on the subject of labor, and include such recommendations as may be deemed proper, together with an account of the work done by the Labor Inspectors, and the expenses incurred in by them. The number of copies of such reports shall not be less than one thousand nor more than three thousand, in the discretion of the commissioner.

§ 6. The biennial reports on Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, made by the commissioner, shall be printed by the public printer, under the direction of the commissioner of public printing, and paid out of the general fund as provided by law for the printing for the executive departments.

§ 7. Neither the Labor Inspector nor Assistant Labor Inspector shall take any part, interfere or become involved in any strike or similar labor difficulty, other than the performance of his duty as prescribed by law, upon penalty of forfeiting his office.

§ 8. The Labor Inspector and Assistant Labor Inspector shall receive annual salaries of twelve hundred dollars and one thousand dollars, respectively, and their actual necessary traveling expenses while in the performance of their duties to be paid out of the fund appropriated for the bureau. Said Labor Inspectors shall make reports of expenses as directed by the commissioner, who shall approve the same when proper and certify same for payment as other expenses of said bureau are now allowed and paid.

§ 9. Nothing in this act shall be construed to conflict with the powers and duties of the State Mine Inspectors as now prescribed by law. The words factory, machine and workshop shall not be construed to mean a newspaper or printing office.

§ 10. All laws in conflict with this act are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

CHILD LABOR LAW.

AN ACT to make it unlawful to employ a child less than fourteen years of age in workshops, mines, mills or factories in this Commonwealth, and fixing a penalty.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

§ 1. That it shall be unlawful for a proprietor, foreman, owner or other person to employ any child less than fourteen years of age in any workshop, factory or mine, in this State; that unless said proprietor, foreman or owner shall know the age of the child, it shall be his or their duty to require the parent or guardian to furnish a sworn statement of its age, and any swearing falsely to such by the parent or guardian shall be perjury and punishable as such.

Provided, That if the parent or guardian and the county judge of any county may consent in writing for such employment, then in that event such employment may be made, subject to the approval of the county attorney of said county, in the event of any complaint, and if he thinks after investigation of such complaint that it is against the best interests or moral welfare of such infant child, he may notify said employer and then this act applies as if no consent was given.

§ 2. That any proprietor, foreman or owner employing a child less than fourteen years of age in conflict with the provisions of this act, except where such proprietor, foreman or owner has been furnished with a sworn statement of guardian or parent that the child is more than fourteen years of age, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than two hundred and fifty dollars.

§ 3. That the grand jury shall have inquisitorial powers to investigate violations of this act, and that judges of the circuit courts of the State shall specially charge the grand jury at the beginning of each term of the court to investigate violations of this act.

§ 4. That this act shall take effect ninety days after the adjournment of this General Assembly.

CORRESPONDENCE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., September 5, 1905.

Thomas J. Scally, Esq., State Labor Inspector, Louisville, Ky.

MY DEAR SIR:—Since the adoption of the child-labor law, something over three years ago, I have been brought into very frequent and very close contact with same. In the consideration and disposition of several thousand cases which have come before me during that time, I have had opportunity to observe almost every imaginable phase of its operation. The wisdom of the law admits of no sort of question, the only difficulty being to determine in each case whether or not the situation of the particular child is such as to warrant in whole or part a suspension of the law's operation.

When the law first went into effect, the parents of children affected by it seemed to think that permits by the county judge would follow as a matter of course for the mere asking and he was almost deluged in this county by the vast number of applications for permits. Each applicant was given a separate hearing and the permit granted or refused, as appeared from the sworn statement of the parent and such other information as was available to be proper in each case. Vast numbers of permits were summarily refused because there seemed to be no need of the child's assistance in the support of the family. Permits were granted only in cases of apparently serious distress or during vacation in somewhat less urgent cases. Under the rigid enforcement of this rule, the number of applicants very materially decreased until now, when comparatively few applications are made, unless some meritorious reason is assigned for same. During the great rush for permits, the county judge was accorded most valuable assistance by representatives of the labor organizations and some of the charitable institutions of the city, who voluntarily and without charge investigated and furnished important information for his guidance in very many cases.

To my mind, the Kentucky law is an improvement upon that of some States which arbitrarily and without exception fix a certain age under which children will not be allowed to work. Many cases of the most abject poverty and most pitiable helplessness arise when, for a time, the burden of a family's support falls upon a small child. That such a child, able to earn woman's wages and more than half man's wages, between 13 and 14 years of age, strong and healthy, should be arbitrarily denied the privilege of working to keep a frail, delicate mother from the wash tub or a consumptive father from starvation, is monstrous. While the power to suspend the law necessarily carries with it the power to abuse it, the humane purposes of the law should afford an imperative check against its abuse. This law saves poor, weak, innocent childhood from the doom of enforced ignorance and the withering blight of long, tiresome confinement, often under most unsanitary conditions. It is, in the forum of morals, as abject and indefensible a form of human slavery as could be imagined to unnecessarily consign these tender infants to the servitude of workshop, mine or factory. Some parents, through ignorance both of their own and their children's welfare, are disposed thus prematurely to put them to work, others, through real distress, are driven to do so as a last resort, but, unfortunately not a few, from motives of greed or on account of their own inexcusable indolence seek thus to enslave their own flesh and blood.

Many, upon being brought to see the purpose of the law, have gladly withdrawn their applications, and most of those whose applications are rejected, while still bemoaning their distress, seem thoroughly resigned to the law's operation.

With the invaluable assistance of the efficient Labor Inspectors of our State, the county judges and county attorneys of Kentucky are empowered to administer this most wise and humane law in a manner to carry countless blessings to the great multitude of children of our toiling masses with rarely, if ever, doing an injustice to or working a hardship against any.

Sincerely trusting that your earnest and efficient labors may continue to be blessed with good results, I am very respectfully,

JAMES P. GREGORY,
Judge Jefferson County Court.

LOUISVILLE, KY., September 23, 1905.

Thomas J. Scally, Esq., State Labor Inspector, City.

DEAR SIR:—In response to your request for my opinion in reference to the present child labor laws of this State, I desire to say that they have my hearty approval, and that I believe they should be strictly enforced.

First. Because they are the law and as such should command the respect and obedience of every good citizen, whatever his individual opinion may be in reference to their wisdom.

Second. Because they are in themselves just. They are directed against one of the greatest evils of our social system, and will place, if enforced, a healthy restraint upon the cupidity and avarice, whether in the parent or employer, which would rob the youth of our State of the opportunity for an education, which, once lost, is, unless in rarest instance, lost forever.

The injustice done the child who leaves the nursery to enter the sweat shop does not end with him. Deprived of the opportunity for moral and intellectual development, with ignorance as his only inheritance, he is poorly prepared to resist the allurements of vice, which he encounters on every hand and so often passes by a process of graduation from the sweat shop to the penitentiary. Society will then brand him as a criminal, strangely forgetful of the fact that he is but the product of a system, which is the real criminal, and which society, until now, has done little to restrain.

The evil against which the statutes in relation to child labor are directed is nowhere capable of producing more disastrous results than in a republic like ours, which must, at last, depend for its strength and perpetuity upon the virtue and intelligence of its citizens. Never was the crime against childhood so prevalent in our day, so destitute of excuse. Science and invention have multiplied a hundred fold the productive power of man. At such a time and under such conditions what a reproach upon our boasted civilization, what an indictment of man's selfishness and greed, are found in the picture too often presented in our largest factories; a girl or boy fourteen years or under chained by contract for ten or twelve hours daily to some powerful machine, a part of it—the least valuable and the least cared for part of the machine—and all for a pittance of fifty or sixty cents per day.

It may be said to the credit of the owners and superintendents of many factories that they will not employ children under the prescribed age—that they respect the law of their State and obey it.

Justice to these men requires that others with whom they must compete shall not be permitted to evade the law.

I congratulate you on your eminently efficient administration of the office you hold as Inspector of Labor. I know you are in sympathy with the wise and humane provisions of the law, with the enforcement of which you have special concern. Be assured in your efforts of the appreciation and gratitude of every good citizen. Very truly yours,

MATT O'DOHERTY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., August 31, 1905.

Mr. Thomas Scally, State Labor Inspector, City.

MY DEAR SIR:—While the parents of children have the first duty and the first right to protect them, to nurture and to educate them, still it is also the duty of the State to see that all its children are protected from cruelty. Every child under fourteen years of age ought at least to have a reasonable opportunity to get a good physical constitution and to acquire an education, without which no child can become a useful or contented citizen. It is clear that a child under fourteen years of age, if compelled to work ten or twelve hours in a factory, has a slim chance for health or education. Hence, the State has a right to protect children in their helplessness, even against the ignorance or brutality of their parents.

No child under twelve years of age should be allowed to work in a FACTORY at all. No child under fifteen years of age should be allowed to work more than eight hours a day, and no child under fourteen years of age should ever be allowed to work in a dangerous position. Now and then an orphan child may be compelled to work, but in this country at least, and especially in a State like ours, there are very few cases in which it is necessary for a child under twelve of fourteen years of age to work in a factory. While the State should do nothing to interfere with the growth of manufactures and should never interfere with parental control, except in extreme cases, still, if we want good, intelligent citizens, vigorous in mind and in body and with sufficient education for the performance of the duties or citizenship, we must guard the young in their tender years from injurious or dangerous occupations, and especially where there is no urgent necessity for the earning of money by them. In many cases, worthless parents shirk work themselves and transfer their own burden to the shoulders of their helpless offspring. Permits to parents and employers for the employment of a child under fourteen in factories should be given only after careful and conscientious investigation and only where a mother or father is, without fault, in want and unable to subsist without the help of the child. No such permit for working in a factory should be given at all where the child is under twelve, for, if the child must work, he or she should work in some place less dangerous to health and morals. If all children under twelve years of age were compelled to attend, not necessarily a public school, but some school, and if they were then kept from idling in the streets, which is more dangerous to health and morals than a factory, no child would grow up in ignorance and would then be saved from mental inferiority and from a disastrous handicap through life. We must protect our children from their own ignorance and helplessness and also from the ignorance and brutality of their parents. Too often they are made the support and the victims of lazy, thriftless or degraded parents, and the law for the punishment of parents guilty of such criminal conduct should be better enforced.

Yours sincerely,

EDWARD J. MCDERMOTT.

Mr. William Young, Assistant Labor Inspector.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your request that I send in some "views" on the question of child labor in Kentucky, permit me to state that such views properly and adequately treated would easily fill a large-sized volume. Therefore in the small space at my disposal only the outlines of the question can be suggested.

A proper treatment of the subject involves a history of civilization—its growth from the pre-historic savage to the highest type of physical and intellectual manhood. It is, in my opinion, one of the most important questions which can be presented to a republic. It may not be so apparent to our Government now, so young, strong and lusty, with the good red blood running so abundantly through the veins of the body politic. But we must bear in mind that our republic is a mere infant compared to others which have flourished for hundreds of years, only to succumb later on to a decay very much resembling the "arterio sclerosis," which inevitably overtakes the individual, however strong and healthy he may be.

Shall our republic escape the universal fate of others?

If so, we must avoid the causes which laid the others low.

History points out these causes so plainly that we can make no mistake as to what we must avoid if we would live. It shows us that the republics became divided into two classes which grew further and further apart until they became houses divided against themselves. One class became rich, luxurious, idle and corrupt; the other became poor, ignorant, dwarfed in mind and body and criminal.

Both classes became utterly unfit to govern and ungovernable—a collapse was inevitable.

Every boy and every girl born into the world has within his or her tiny body the nucleus of a power to benefit or to injure the government into which they are born.

Clearly, then, that government which cultivates and magnifies the power to benefit, and reduces to a minimum the power to injure, will outstrip the one which neglects the field and permits the tares to grow with and perhaps choke out the wheat.

If every State in our Union would see to it that all infants born or brought into it had every possible advantage for physical and mental growth, what a wonderful, glorious government the next generation would be!

It might be difficult to persuade some parents of this generation to consent that their children should be raised differently from their raising. But, if done, would there be any difficulty with the generation of parents who had the advantages of an enlightened government accorded them?

But, it is said, some parents need the wages of their children; especially so in the case of widows or where the father is bedridden or otherwise incapable of supporting his family.

In answering this argument, let us leave out of consideration the cruelty, inhumanity and immorality of sacrificing the infant's little body. Let us forget that a sound body is the soil and good environment the sunshine in which the seed of good citizenship grows, flourishes and bears fruit. Let us look at the commercial aspect alone.

Suppose the State should maintain the families dependent upon child labor for support and transfer the little victims from enforced labor in more or less unhealthful and dangerous surroundings (and any work which consumes all the child's time, or the greater part of it, is unhealthful) to light, well ventilated schools, with their time for work and their time for play, can any one doubt this two-fold result? First, it would certainly reduce ignorance and thereby lessen crime; second, it would certainly reduce ignorance and thereby lessen helplessness and the necessity for State aid.

Which is the cheaper, in dollars and cents to the State, the maintenance of her crowded infirmaries, criminal courts, jails and penitentiaries, or the maintenance of her helpless citizens? —the continuation of the percentage (to say nothing of its probable increase) of helplessness, or the gradual elimination of all helplessness?

Unsound bodies are the soil and ignorance the miasma in which poverty and crime grow.

I do not wish to be understood as attempting to stir up strife between capital and labor, nor to hold that the reward attendant on individual effort should be limited. If the State sees to it that her infants are given every advantage possible, equipping them with sound minds and bodies, the resultant adult citizen will be amply able to take care of himself and the gap between the wealthiest and the poorest citizen will never be so large as to be menacing. In other words, a citizenship, when it becomes universally intelligent and healthy, will take care of any and all dangers which threaten the government.

All the States many years ago furnished schools where children could be educated without cost. Many States have already taken the next step and adopted compulsory education, which in itself is a partial solution of the question of child labor.

Many States have adopted child-labor laws, and sooner or later all will adopt them.

These are all steps in the evolution of our civilization.

Does it require a very vivid stretch of our imagination, or the gift of prophecy, to see in the future the State caring for the health and happiness of her little wards, as well as placing before them the means of mental cultivation?

These laws are crude and inadequate, but they will be improved from time to time, until finally the State will recognize the philosophy and economy of the trade's union's motto, "An injury to one is the concern of all."

In conclusion, permit to congratulate the trades unions of Kentucky for their noble work resulting in the passage of the present child-labor law, and permit me to anticipate and congratulate them on their continued efforts in behalf of still better enactments.

A good beginning has been made, the foundation laid; let every good citizen do his or her utmost to erect thereon a noble and beautiful edifice.

Respectfully yours,

MARTIN M. DURRETT.

LOUISVILLE, KY., October 20, 1905.

Mr. Thomas J. Scally, State Labor Inspector of Kentucky.

DEAR SIR:—It affords me great pleasure to say a word on the question of child labor and the operation of the present law as it now stands on the statutes of our great and noble State. While great good has been accomplished, there is room for improvement. The present law does not meet the requirements and is inadequate in many respects. Under the present law, when the Inspector or his assistant finds parties employing children under age, he must go before a grand jury and have an indictment returned. While this works in the large cities where grand juries are in session monthly, it is a great drawback in the towns and smaller cities where grand juries are in session every three months.

This should be so amended to give the county judge or any justice of the peace or police judge jurisdiction.

Another feature which should be incorporated to make the law more effective is prohibiting the employment of children in telegraph offices and department stores. I see from personal observation that children who ought to be attending our schools are gradually being crowded in the department stores. Under the existing law, the Inspectors are powerless to prevent it.

Proper safeguards around machinery, ventilation, sanitary conditions are an essential for the health and protection of employes in factories, mills and workshops. Under the present law, the Inspectors can only make recommendations. This should be made compulsory.

An investigation of the present law by the members of the coming Legislature would convince them that there is room for improvement, and the law should be so amended to meet every requirement.

That there has been and will be good results obtained by reason of having factory inspection laws, no one will deny who takes interest enough to give it a study, and to make it more effective and carry out its intentions, more power should be given the Inspectors and a bureau of labor and statistics established separate and distinct from any other department of State government, with changes made as pointed out, and compulsory educational features, compelling parents to send their offspring to our schools, the coming generation will be better prepared for the various fields of labor and usefulness.

Very truly yours,

HERMAN CHRISTEN,

Sec'y. Cigarmakers Union No. 32.

DAYTON, KY., August 14, 1905.

Mr. Wm. Young, Assistant Factory Inspector, Covington, Ky.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter of recent date, will say that we have always realized the advantages of not employing child labor in our factory and have always found it very beneficial to afford the best sanitary conditions for the help that we employ. We are greatly in favor of the State inspection of factories and think that much can be accomplished along the lines of better sanitary conditions and the suppression of child labor.

Very truly yours,

THE WADSWORTH WATCH CASE CO.

Mr. Thomas J. Scally, State Labor Inspector.

MY DEAR SIR:—It is a pleasure for me to comply with your request in regard to my views on child labor.

I shall be glad to endorse any adequate means to prevent the employing of children at any age when they need the home and school for their proper development physically, socially and morally.

Much has been done by organized labor whenever it has gotten on its feet with sufficient security to permit of its giving thought to any subject aside from its own immediate struggle for existence has raised its voice in opposition to child labor. And their interest in the subject of child labor is a reflection of their desire to have their children in turn enjoy better conditions of health and life and work than they enjoy themselves.

It is needless to say that child labor is never intelligent labor. It stunts intelligence physically harmful; it also retards the growth of the mind.

You and your assistant are engaged in a noble work, and doing a vast amount of good when you inspect the workshops and factories, suggesting guards for protecting life and limb from being sacrificed in the jaws of dangerous and unguarded machinery; that elevator openings are provided with proper guards; cog-gearings cased in; that the sanitary condition in shops and factories is such that life is not sacrificed by disease and premature death. In short, that the protection of life and limb of our working people receive a little attention, as well as the care that is given to the machine and the products turned out. All of which, in a large measure, is due to the existence of the department of factory inspection.

But while this is all true, in a great measure it is only taking care of the men and women who are endowed with reasoning faculties and are capable of knowing the difficulties and dangers surrounding their work.

This can not be said of the young clerk. Youth is the time for play and school. The mind is not and can not be set upon the stern realities of life. The boys and girls should be permitted to grow up learning their lessons in school and enjoying the fresh air and sunshine, so the body and mind can be developed into strong men and women. No enlightened mind can fail to see the wrongs involved in imposing hard and continuous toil upon young children.

Not only does it deprive them of the sunshine and joyousness of childhood, but it stunts their growth physically and mentally.

With the industrial quickening that has of recent years marked the life of this country, has come the temptation to force helpless children to perform the work of adults. In this age of improved machinery, we push the button or pull a lever and set in motion not only a machine, but an entire factory, we are prone to think that all that is necessary is to secure a child to do this, forgetting that this works an injury to the child that can never be repaired. First by compelling him to spend his time in a factory or workshop at the expense of his mental, moral and physical development. And, second, because the real reason that he is there is the low wage at which he can be employed.

It is an injury inflicted by the grasping few in their effort to lower the wages of the many who are capable and sufficiently numerous to perform the work.

The mercenary spirit that would coin the blood and hopes of childhood into dollars deserves no mercy at the hands of the public nor the legislatures. From every point of view, child labor is ethically wrong and financially unwise. There can be invented no excuse by which it can be justified. I know of no law on the statutes that will have more effect on future generations than the child-labor law because, where rigidly enforced, children are in the school room learning the lessons of discipline and good order, thus growing up to be better men and women than they otherwise would.

The industrial freedom that should be the inheritance of the American people will come when every man, physically and mentally able, is employed at some kind of work at a good wage, and not required to work more than eight hours, with every child in school, provided with free books. Then and then only can we triumphantly sing, "The land of the free and the home of the brave."

Respectfully yours,

JNO. M. ADAMS,

Justice of the Peace, Jefferson Co., Ky.

President Roosevelt, in his late message to Congress says:

"Much can be done by the Government in labor matters, merely by giving publicity to certain conditions. The Bureau of Labor has done excellent work of this kind in many different directions. I shall shortly lay before you in a special message the full report of the investigation of the Bureau of Labor into the Colorado mining strike, as this is a strike in which certain very evil forces, which are more or less at work everywhere under the conditions of modern industrialism, became startlingly prominent. It is greatly to be wished that the Department of Commerce and Labor, through the Labor Bureau, should compile and arrange for the Congress upon the labor conditions in the manufacturing and mining regions throughout the country, both as to wages, as to hours of labor, as to the labor of women and children, and as to the effect in the various labor centers of immigration from abroad.

"In this investigation special attention should be paid to the conditions of child labor and child labor legislation in the several States. Such an investigation must necessarily take into account many of the problems with which this question of child labor is connected. These problems can be actually met, in most cases, only by the States themselves; but the lack of proper legislation in one State in such a mattter as child labor often renders it excessively difficult to establish protective restriction upon the work in another State having the same industries, so that the worse tends to drag down the better. For this reason, it would be well for the nation at least to endeavor to secure comprehensive information as to the conditions of labor of children in the different States. Such investigation and publication by the national Government would tend toward the securing of the proper character among the several States."

PROSECUTIONS.

We had occasion to indict five firms for violations of the child-labor law; in each case a plea of guilty was entered and a fine and costs paid, which shows that the law will be enforced to the best of our ability.

We desire to acknowledge the cheerful manner in which the circuit judges, the county judges, the county attorneys and the Commonwealth attorneys have rendered us aid and counsel. In all cases where it became necessary to resort to extreme measures to secure compliances with our orders, we have been very ably assisted by them.

Recommendations and Suggestions to Amend the Present State Labor Law and Child Labor Law.

When this department was created in 1902, its jurisdiction was limited to the inspection of factories, machine and workshops. Although we have made rapid advancement in the number of inspections, much attention has been paid during the past two years to bringing about some material reforms.

The previous report of this department has pointed out the weakness of the present method of preventing child labor under the age of fourteen and the laxity of the law which aims to protect the health of the children and to forbid their work at those occupations "whereby their lives or limbs are in danger or their health likely to be injured or their morals depraved." The rapid industrial growth of the State during the past four years has vastly increased labor, which has precipitated the immediate and dire necessity for more complete laws. I append such suggestions for new laws as my experience in enforcing the present statutes leads me to believe are necessary to legislate to meet present conditions and to properly protect and care for the employed. Such legislation as is enacted should protect the employer as well as the employed and thus bring about the prevention of violations, thereby obviating the necessity for unlimited prosecutions. It is advisable that the present Assembly pass an amendment to section 1 of the present child-labor law whereby the issuing of affidavits for children over fourteen will be effective. The present system of issuing affidavits for children over fourteen years of age has proven an almost total failure as a safeguard. The number of false affidavits which show on their face the children to be over fourteen, but which in reality are held by children much under this age is appalling. These affidavits or certificates should not be issued unless there is first procured some conclusive evidence as to the child's age, such as birth certificate, registration of baptism or other reasonable evidence which will sustain the facts regarding the child's true age.

There should also be required a simple educational test for children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen before they are permitted to work. It would be best to require them to read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language. The illiteracy prevailing among the child laborers makes it essential that some law be passed which will enable them to receive an elementary education.

The present inspection law should be amended to apply to all workshops, machine shops, factories, printing offices, telegraph offices, messenger offices, stores, mechanical, electrical and mercantile establishments and all places where machinery of any kind is used or operated, including all public institutions of the State which have shops and factories or either.

INSPECTORS TO HAVE FREE ACCESS TO ALL SHOPS AND FACTORIES; PROOF OF FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER; LIABILITY OF PROPRIETOR.

The Labor Inspectors shall have entry into all shops and factories, including all public institutions of the State which have shops and factories, or either, at any reasonable time, and it shall be unlawful for the proprietors, agents or servants in such factories or shops to prevent, at reasonable hours, his entry into such shops or factories for the purpose of such inspection. And proof of the failure of the proprietor of any shop or factory to make the alteration or furnish the safeguards ordered by the Inspector, within the time required by law, shall be deemed prima facie evidence of negligence and shall render such proprietor liable for any injury sustained by reason of such failure to make such alterations or furnish such safeguards.

NOTICE OF NECESSARY ALTERATIONS OR ADDITIONS; PENALTY FOR NOT MAKING SAME.
